Competent, informed, experienced,
professional and capable
CERT instructors

Marg Pollon founding director of Bridges of Love Ministry, introduced CERT training to Calgary in 2014. Since this time, over 50 CERT graduates are better prepared to assist themselves, family and their neighbours, during times of disaster.

Gerrit Swanepoel joined Bridges of Love as Project Coordinator for "The Power of Civil Society, Moving at the Speed of Trust." He brings experience in project management together with a desire to see rural communities better prepared and trained.

Half of the lessons focus on training and skills and half focus on review of the CERT training. Among the most critical skills necessary to teach the CERT Basic Training course is the ability to facilitate hands-on activities effectively. To that end, this course incorporates teach-back activities. For the purposes of this program, a teach-back activity is defined as one in which the participants are paired off and assigned a segment of instruction that they are then responsible, for teaching to the remaining participants. These activities are designed to give the T-T-T participants the opportunity to use and practice their instructional techniques - including team teaching. It is also an opportunity for participants to give and receive feedback.

NOTE: Professionals in their field, who wish to instruct, may do so without taking the CERT T-T-T course. However, the CERT T-T-T course gives an overview for the CERT Basic Training for those who are unfamiliar with this basic emergency training. As well, Judy McMillan-Evans offers an very enjoyable learning & teaching environment.

TARGET AUDIENCE:

- Those who already have training in an emergency discipline (ie: Doctor for the Disaster Medical Operations module, Psychologist for the Psychology of Trauma etc.)
