Anything can happen...

A disaster is a calamitous event, that occurs suddenly causing injury, loss of life, damage, and hardship. Large scale disasters generate a need for a large number of volunteers with a variety of skills, abilities, expertise, and training. Everyone has a role in preparing for emergencies. Preparedness starts with individuals. Each member of the public, from individuals to communities, has a role to play.

COMMUNITY EMERGENCY RESPONSE TEAM (CERT) basic training provides individuals with the skills and knowledge to respond to their family and community's immediate needs in the aftermath of a disaster. When emergency services are over-whelmed, CERT trained members work together to reduce injuries and loss of life and protect property. Community preparedness enhances the ability of individuals and neighbourhoods to minimize their emergency needs and to manage their existing resources until professional assistance becomes available.

"When disaster strikes, civil society is always first in line to offer a hand up to support Albertans through any emergency. This funding will help further enhance the capacity of civil society to provide immediate disaster assistance and bridge the critical gap between the time of disaster and the arrival of emergency services. I am pleased Bridges of Love will be using this funding to share resources and training with organizations across Alberta."

Jason Luan, Former Minister of Community and Social Services
